BUYING BY CARLOAD

GLENDALE HARDWARE STORE LEADS THE DISTRICT IN PLUMBING

"Modern methods make money in any business. The up-to-date business man works harder in dull times and devises more economical methods of doing business. In this way he not only saves money but by being up-to-date and having fewer expenses he is able to get business that other firms cannot handle," said Mr. Ralph Hinckley, of the Glendale Hardware Store, to a representative of The Glendale Evening News. "That has been our experience in this business.

"We moved in here two years ago. It appeared quite a venture at that time to some people; but not to us. This firm is one of the oldest incorporated firms in Glendale. It was incorporated on the day San Francisco was devastated by the great earthquake and fire. That was April 25, 1906. We were pioneers in business in San Fernando valley. Our devotion to modern methods led us to install the first auto delivery in Glendale. We have now two auto delivery cars and a large delivery truck. These cars run more than 100 miles a day in the course of their deliveries.

"Our business has been increasing and widening every year. We have in this store the first electric elevator ever used in Glendale. While we have a very large hardware business, which as you see, necessitates our keeping in stock a very wide selection of all kinds of hardware goods, we specialize in many articles. For instance just at present the cultivation of the garden and the vacant lot has taken hold of the people and we are ready to supply their wants in that particular. To do this we keep a service staff of 8 clerks, all experts in their business.

"Apart from our hardware business we do a large general plumbing business throughout the valley and in Los Angeles. As may easily be imagined the business we do in Los Angeles is considerable. To begin with our overhead expenses are very moderate compared with those of our city competitors. In the next place we are connected with an association of hardware stores that purchases goods in carloads. We are thus able to secure all plumbing material at a price that puts us away ahead when it comes to estimating for contracts in that line. We have 25 plumbers constantly employed.

"A few days ago we had more plumbing contracts in Los Angeles than any firm there. Indeed, it is doubtful if so many plumbing contracts were ever filled in one day before. I am president of this association, which follows the policy of having only one representative firm in each city. It covers all of Southern California, from Santa Barbara to San Diego. This connection puts us in the position of being able to sell anything to anybody at a price beyond the competition of other firms not similarly equipped.

"As far as we are concerned business is improving steadily. Year after year sees this firm occupying a more solid position than ever and increasing its clientele everywhere. In addition to that I believe that business is going to improve right along. Anyway, our methods deserve success and I am happy to say they also command it. I look forward to an era of advancing prosperity and am of the opinion that the Glendale Hardware store is going to secure a good share of it."

TAG DAY FOR JEWS

COMMITTEES IN CITY AT WORK TO RAISE FUNDS FOR HEBREW WAR SUFFERERS

To all appearance, Thursday, Feb. 17, the day appointed as Tag Day, for the purpose of raising funds for the relief of the Jewish sufferers from the war, is to witness a great success. The committee appointed recently by the city council to attend to the arrangements in connection with this matter met Friday evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms for the purpose of considering plans. Officers were elected as follows: S. H. Goldstein, chairman; A. T. Cowan, secretary; O. A. Lane, treasurer.

In view of the immense work that is to be done to relieve the sufferings of the Jews in the various countries of Europe where the war has driven them from their homes and deprived them of their whole means of subsistence, the committee plans not only to observe Tag Day, Thursday, Feb. 17, but also to hold a large mass meeting, Sunday, Feb. 13. At this meeting a number of noted speakers will be present, among whom will be Nathan Strauss of New York City, and Isidore Myers, the noted Jewish authority of Los Angeles.

Prof. Lowinsky, the noted violinist, has volunteered to furnish an orchestra and other music for the occasion and some noted singers have been secured. The Rev. John Henry Troy was appointed to correspond with Mr. Strauss. Mr. Albert Leighton has undertaken the work of sending out letters to the ladies' clubs and other clubs and organizations, asking them to aid in this Tag Day work. It is expected to have at least 100 persons at work on Tag Day, tagging residence houses, business houses and individuals.

Mrs. E. W. Kinney, who was appointed by the city council to attend to certain phases of this work, desires to confer with the Jewish ladies of the valley at her home, 1223 W. Seventh street, Monday afternoon, when she will also be glad to receive young ladies who will volunteer to sell tags.

INSTALLATION MONDAY

Monday evening, February 7, is the date set for installation of officers for Glendale Lodge 304, Fraternal Brotherhood, in the Odd Fellows hall, corner Glendale avenue and Third street, at 8 o'clock.

Incoming officers are as follows: Wm. W. Shaver, president; Mervin W. Mills, vice-president; Susie C. Hunt, treasurer; Sara G. Wright, secretary; Virginia Graham, chaplain; Florence Mills, mistress at arms; Birdie Shropshire, inner door-keeper; Amos A. Dow, outer door-keeper; C. O. Pulliam, Amos A. Dow and Birdie Shropshire, trustees; Dr. D. W. Hunt and Dr. Russell Boyer, examining physicians. The retiring president is Alex Mitchell.

The installation ceremony will be a closed meeting, after which a social hour will be enjoyed by members of the lodge and their guests, who have been bidden to arrive at a later hour.

SUPPORT LOCAL PAPER

The degree of success of a daily paper in a city of the population of Glendale represents largely the life of the city in which it is published. It is to the financial interest of every property owner and business man of the Glendale community to assist in making a success of the local daily paper.

Merchants and others who have advertising to do should so far as possible place it in the local paper instead of patronizing program sheets having no general circulation. The interests of the community and the interests of the local paper are identical, and the two should co-operate. What leads to the success of one, leads to the success of the other.

The Evening News does not exist in a parasite form, but is thoroughly equipped to serve as a leader in publicity matters. A better patronized Evening News will indicate a greater Glendale.

MAKE KNOWN YOUR WANTS

It has been learned that The Evening News is an excellent medium through which to make known your wants. The classified columns of the News is well patronized and the results have been very flattering. The carelessness on the part of careless patrons of this column has forced us to request that cash accompany all copy for the classified column.

GERMANS DROWN IN DWINA RIVER

RUSSIAN CANNON BREAK ICE AS TEUTON TROOPS ATTEMPT TO CROSS FOR ATTACK

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 5.—Four hundred and fifty Germans were drowned in the Dwina river today when attempting to cross on the ice to attack Dvinsk. The Russians repeated the trick they played on the French in Napoleon's time during the retreat from Moscow. They gave their big field guns sufficient elevation and allowed the shells to drop on the ice. As the ice gave way the advance companies were ingulfed.

BRIDGE DYNAMITER DROWNS IN RIVER

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP THE VICTORIA BRIDGE OVER ST. LAWRENCE IS FRUSTRATED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MONTREAL, Feb. 5.—Guards who have been patrolling the Victoria bridge across the St. Lawrence river here today frustrated an attempt to blow up the structure. The bridge has been closely watched ever since the German attempt to blow up the bridge across the Niagara river. The recent burning of the Ottawa parliament house has also quickened the suspicions of those in authority and the guards over all the important bridges have been cautioned to exercise extra care. The individual who was engaged in the attempt fled as the guards fired at him. As he ran across the river he fell into a hole in the ice and is supposed to have drowned.

AMERICAN RUMORS DEPRESS GERMAN BOURSE

PRICES ON BERLIN STOCK EXCHANGE DROP HEAVILY TODAY ON ACCOUNT OF LUSITANIA DISPUTE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 5.—Prices on the Berlin stock exchange dropped heavily today when rumors of trouble with the United States went into circulation. The story went through the financial crowd that the kaiser had declared that he had gone far enough with the Americans and would go no further. It is believed, however by the more sane speculators that there is a genuine anxiety on the part of Germany not to offend the United States.

RIOTING IN CAPITAL OF PORTUGAL

PARIS, Feb. 5.—Serious trouble has broken out all over Portugal. The people are dissatisfied with the present government and it is believed that the dissatisfaction is being increased by emissaries of the late royal government. The mobs are fighting with the troops in Lisbon and have almost got the upper hand. They are looting the stores in the rich merchant quarter of the business section. The disturbances have assumed almost the proportions of a revolution.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE TONIGHT

The joint debate between Glendale Union High School and Huntington Park will take place tonight in the High School and also at Huntington Park. The subject is "One-Year Enlistment Term for the United States Army." Should Glendale win this debate the school will go into the finals with Pasadena High School. This debate tonight is the tie between Glendale and Huntington Park in the semi-finals. It is hoped that there will be a large audience to hear the debate and to encourage the local team.

At Lincoln High School, Los Angeles, Friday night, Miss Ethyl West represented Glendale High School in an extemporaneous debate on the subject, "Resolved, That Occupational, Other Than Professional, Training Should Be Introduced in the High Schools of California As Soon As Possible." Glendale and Polytechnic High School had the affirmative and Manual Arts and Lincoln High the negative. Orrie Hester represented Lincoln High; George Francis, Polytechnic; Miss Ethyl West, Glendale, and Miss Loretta Bender, Manual Arts. The result was Manual Arts, first; Lincoln High, second; Glendale, third, and Polytechnic, fourth. Miss Bender is an experienced debater. Miss West made her first appearance Friday night.

GLENDALE GIRL IN CONTEST

In connection with the "Beauty and Brains" contest to be conducted by the Photoplay Magazine, it is noted that Miss Lorlia Journey, 1012 Fairview Place, Glendale, is one of the competitors. The magazine proposes to send eleven young women to the World Film corporation studios at Fort Lee, New Jersey, across the river from New York City, where they will be given a thorough tryout as film actresses. All of their expenses on this trip will be paid. If they show any talent, they will be given contracts for a period of not less than one year at the regular salaries paid to stars.

No effort will be spared to make stars of these young women. Miss Lillian Russell and William A. Brady are among the judges of the contest. Their experience and reputation alone assure contestants of every possible consideration based solely on ability.

BIG CROWD AT BARN DANCE

Miradero Lodge No. 96, Knights of Pythias, is to be congratulated on the great success of its "Old-Time Barn Dance," which was given in the Sparr Packing house Friday evening. The big hall of the packing house was cleared and put in excellent shape for dancing. Provision had been made for a large crowd, but the number of those present exceeded all expectation. Thorpe's orchestra furnished the music for the old quadrilles and other dances of the days gone by; while the Link's orchestra, consisting of Ben Links, Bill Waldon and Bert Shafer, played "Turkey in the Straw," "Moneymusk" and the "Arkansas Traveler" to the great enjoyment of those who are experts in the dances that go to those tunes. Mrs. Mary Cable gave a reading which was loudly encored as was her second selection. Refreshments were served throughout the evening. So enjoyable a time was experienced that it is possible the society may comply with the numerous demands for another such night.

CUPID GAINS ACQUISITION

Mrs. James Oakley of Los Angeles formally announces the engagement of her daughter, Clemence Oakley, to Kenneth Barager, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Barager of Burbank, Cal. Mr. Barager is well known locally and was a graduate of the Glendale High School. Finishing his second semester as an instructor in the Marshfield, Oregon, High School, Mr. Barager will return to Southern California in June and claim his bride. No definite date has as yet been set for the wedding.

LEAP YEAR PARTY—WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY—MRS. CRAMER

LEAP YEAR PARTY

Ushering in a gay whirl of Leap Year parties, in which the younger set are to be featured, was the party given by the girl members of the Senior class of the Glendale High School to the class boys at the home of Miss Rebecca Gregg, 206 South Central avenue, on the evening of the 4th instant. Mrs. David L. Gregg, mother of the young hostess, and Miss Margaret Gregg, a sister, assisted in dispensing gracious hospitality.

Suggesting the St. Valentine season, hearts were used in profusion throughout the rooms given over to dancing and games. A game which caused a great deal of merriment were the "proposals" by the girls to the boys, Miss Vera Bayard receiving the prize for capturing the most hearts.

The young lady escorts called for their gentlemen with a "jitney" and each man was presented with a large bouquet of violets. Class members enjoying the merry occasion were James Shea, Eldrid Marlette, Wm. G. Bode, Richard Burk, Tom Phillips, J. T. Beach, Bill Renshaw, Wm. Learned, Hansen Garrett, George Dyre, Howard Stickney, Lyle Johnston, Marke Francy, Samie Erkin, J. S. Brown and Lawrence Davis and the Misses Mary Jane Evans, Lola East, Grace Shropshire, Rachel McClure, Grace Beach, Vera Bayard, Ruth Wilson, Aldine Norton, Edith Ewings, Dorothy Cloud, Zelma Burton, Caroline Wattling, Margaret McPherson, Mary Hunt and the hostess, Miss Rebecca Gregg.

At a late hour the young men served a most elaborate buffet supper, the menu of which they themselves had arranged.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

The society, Sons of the Revolution, in the State of California, has started a nation-wide movement to secure the co-operation of the ministers of all denominations to preach a patriotic, commemorative sermon, featuring Washington and his part in the early history of this country, on the Sunday preceding Washington's birthday, Feb. 20. All the patriotic societies of the country have agreed to assist in securing this.

FOR MRS. CRAMER

In a St. Valentine's setting of red hearts and cut flowers with foliage, Mrs. Lorene Cramer was the object of a sweet birthday courtesy extended by her two daughters, Mrs. Louis Bittle and Miss Blanche Cramer, in the maternal home at 553 Acacia avenue, Thursday evening.

Old-fashioned games were enjoyed during the evening and at a late hour a course supper was served at the small tables, which were individually decorated. Beautiful gifts of silver service were presented to Mrs. Cramer in memory of the occasion and birthday wishes were extended by Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Ferry, Mr. and Mrs. W. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bittle, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Wasson, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Gilmore, Mrs. W. Gilmore, Mrs. Hamildon, the Misses Gladys Hamildon, Elsie Wilson, Essie Hamildon, Crowell, Hazard, Blanche Cramer, and Gilmore; Messrs. Dan Hamildon, Alvin Slanders, Geo. Huff, Paul Cramer, Wallace Cramer and Master John Louis Bittle.

SWEET GIRL GRADUATE

In a setting of purple and gold, class colors of the winter graduating class of the Glendale High School, the W. Hoods of 477 Rock Glen avenue entertained with a distinctly pretty dinner, having as guest of honor Miss Bessie Wood, a member of the graduating class, and her class associates.

A huge cake bearing the honorees' name and elaborately decorated in colored icing of purple and gold, with dainty smilax strands across the cloth formed a unique table centerpiece.

Bon bon baskets marked covers for the host and hostess, the honoree and class members, including Miss Gladys Goddard, Miss Irene Ward, Miss Marion Kennedy, Miss Anna Trantz and Messrs. Robert Hood, Ruthford Wallace, Joseph Harrison and Fred Winters.

DEATH OF MRS. ELLA MARKLEY

PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR GIRLS

Promotion of physical education for girls in the United States is the program of Dr. Anna L. Brown, secretary of Hygiene and Physical Education of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Ascoiation. She believes that standards of efficiency for women should be based upon an understanding of how to conserve and develop physical powers. She says that her work is to popularize physical education as the foundation of health and happiness in the lives of girls and women. Thousands of girls are in her classes all of over the country. The registration in 1914 showed an increase of 18,000.

There is no doubt that the desire for health and safety is making the swimming pool, as Dr. Brown says, the rival of the gymnasiums as far as the young women are concerned. Summer camps are bringing many joys and pleasures of the right kind into the lives of many young women. Their more fortunate brothers have had these privileges many years. Big newspapers in almost every city in the United States provide Sunday camps for newsboys; other institutions have followed the example; but the girls have been neglected. There is not the slightest doubt that the nation is the gainer when its youth of both sexes is trained in outdoor exercise.

As long as this form of exercise is not overdone in the way of foolish competition and rivalry but is taken as a sane means of developing the bodily health and strength it is one of the best means of improving the rising generation that can be found. Work and study depend to a great extent on the physical force. The co-operation of the girls in camps also develops character. They learn there such a useful and valuable art as that of carrying the body properly. A proper carriage is essential to health. It also promotes cheerfulness of spirit, capacity for work and powers of endurance.

To conserve and develop physical powers the gymnasium and the swimming pool are being used in conjunction to correct defects and deformities under medical supervision. They develop weak muscles and strengthen other organs; they develop and perfect co-ordination. They reinforce health and make casual ailments unpopular. To provide recreation and create happiness in the use of the body by means of athletics and games of skill is a highly laudable ambition for the Young Women's Christian Association.

It is to be expected that this program will base all the activities it seeks to promote on practical hygiene. Proper dress, proper diet, proper care of the person and the right proportions of exercise and rest will be taught to the young women. If the society can outline true and tried types of physical training for women, adapted to age, occupation and living conditions and if underlying these it can develop a well-defined code on the ethical use of physical powers and the responsibility of all women to give equal thought to their physical, intellectual and spiritual efficiency, it will have worked wonders. Only under such well balanced conditions can women give their best efforts to any activity.

COURSE OF THE WAR IN EUROPE

There is little change in the war situation up to the present. On both eastern and western fronts operations beyond the ordinary attack and defense of the trenches have amounted to very little. On the western front the Grmans claim to have captured some French trenches. The French claim to have recovered them. The difference of a few hours in the receipt of the different cables accounts possibly for the divergence of report.

On the western front also there is much talk of vast preparations on the part of the Germans for a great assault on the lines of the allies. The Teutons are credited with having sent 3000 new guns to that front within the past few weeks. What the allies are doing in that respect is seldom mentioned; though it is well known that new equipment of all sorts and new guns also have been sent in readiness for the possible assault. Indeed without the sacrifice of an enormous number of men it does not seem possible for either side to break through in the west at present.

Italy and Austria continue their deadly game without much gain on either side. If anything can be said of the status in the irredenta provinces it is that Italy is making slight gains with large losses of life. Italy also has sent her proportion of troops to Saloniki and has swelled the opposition to any Teutonic advance in that quarter.

Germany is making vast preparations to invade Egypt and cripple the Suez canal. That is an undertaking that is more easily spoken about than carried out. If any nation can carry out the construction of a railway through the desert and carry along with it a pipe line for water it would be Germany and doubtless that enenterprising nation is working hard at the problem. Little is said about that phase of the war; but the difficulties are very great and if Germany relies too much on the Turks and Senussi tribes for the work it is doomed to failure. Britain already has a large contingent of troops of all kinds in that quarter and big guns are ready to defend the Cabal. In a campaign where all the hard work develops on one side while the other sits quietly in its trenches and pumps lead at its foes from quickfirers the outcome is not difficult to foresee.

All this scattering of forces is not adding to the efficiency of the Teutonic advance anywhere. Day by day the strength of the Teutonic forces is suffering attrition while the forces of Britain are being daily increased.

The only side that seems to have gained any victory recently is Russia which has signally defeated the Turks in the Caucacus and has been compelled to call a halt to the campaign on account of the weather; but with the spring enormous forces will again be on the move everywhere. The combat between the Russians and the Austrians on the banks of the Strypa will be renewed and further developments may be expected in the Balkans. Up till now the command of the kaiser to drive "the British and French into the sea," at Saloniki, has not received any expression in action.

Everywhere during the past few days the airmen of all armies have been active and many casualties have been caused especially in the unfortified English towns. Attempts have been made on Paris with similar effects—a few non-combatants killed with no effect whatever on the issues of the war.

Meanwhile the United States looks to a settlement of the Appam prize case which presents some features in international law that are interesting. The United States also is waiting with some expectancy for the German answer to the president's demand for a settlement of the Lusitania case on the lines laid down by him. Germany is not anxious to admit that it was wrong in that case and there are possibilities of international rupture of relations in the negotiations.

What is of most significance in the war situation is the evident financial embarrassment of Austria-Hungary, especially Hungary where the war has produced extreme distress and where it is beginning to be felt that the country cannot hold out much longer. Appeals for peace from Hungary on the basis that the Teutons had made great gains and that the world had surely got enough of the war were met with derision on the part of the allies, and Hungary will have to try some more sane appeal if she is to get out of the conditions the war has produced. Indeed the financial and economic situation is getting very serious for the Central powers.

GOOD TEMPLARS MEETING

At the Good Templars meeting Friday evening, Feb. 4, one candidate was initiated and the newly elected officers installed. Following are the officers: Arthur Lindley, c. g.; Tempa Wilkes, v. g.; J. P. Fancett, p. c. g.; Mabel Robbins, r. s.; Oscar Wenberg, a. s.; Frank Jepson, f. s.; K. C. Siple, treasurer; Mrs. Harrell, chaplain; Robert Taylor, marshal; Barbara Askeland, d. m.; Nettie Turner, guard; Alice Watson, sentinel. At the close of the lodge a pleasing program was given.

Congratulations were extended by the chairman to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fancett on their recent marriage. A march was then played to the strains of which the members filed to the banquet hall, where a fine supper was served. The installing officer of the evening was A. E. Robbins, district chief Templar. He was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitely of Los Angeles.

A TALKING ROOK

It is said that the first instance of a rook developing the power to talk was recorded in England recently. The bird is the property of two school children—a little boy and girl living in Horsham, England. They caught it five years ago, when it was still quite young, in a local rookery. By patient precept and careful study they taught the bird several words and now she proudly boasts of a vocabulary close upon 100 simple words. She is often allowed out in the garden, for, although she can fly swiftly and strongly, she can be trusted not to make her escape.—Chicago Herald.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT

We, the members of the N. P. Banks Post, G. A. R., feel most deeply and keenly the loss we have sustained in the removal of our beloved comrade, Howard M. Goss, and are only comforted in the thought that he is in the hands of the all-wise Father and that his life and service were such as to give assurance that he rests in sweet peace. His memory we cherish; his virtues we will seek to emulate.

We also most sincerely desire to extend our tenderest and most loving sympathy to the family of our deceased Comrade Goss and hope for each of them that when the call shall come each in his or her turn may be ready to go to the blessed meeting beyond, and while remaining, may like the departed husband, father, comrade and friend be so faithful to every duty that the Good Father may say in the end, "Well done!"

YOUR OUTLOOK ON LIFE

Cheerfulness is a habit, just as much as worrying—only it is a good deal pleasanter for yourself and everybody else. Get the habit, then; and the first thing you know the worries will have taken flight. Cheerfulness may cost you something at first, but it will pay in the end.

How to manage it? Look out instead of in. You are not the only creature who has troubles. Every woman has them—and most men—so you cannot lay claim to anything exclusive along this line. But the world is a pretty good world on the whole, and you will enjoy it more than you do now when you begin to look out on it with unclouded eyes.—Kansas City Star.

Personals

Miss Hazel Anderson, 320 Cedar street, is entertaining for a few days Mrs. Persia Morris of Los Angeles.

The R. G. Imlers and family, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Imler were all-day guests in the home of Mrs. Annie L. Smith of 1427 Riverdale Drive.

Mrs. W. E. Kinney, curator of the music section, and her guest, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale, attended the Reciprocity Day meeting of the "Council of Jewish Women" in Los Angeles on Thursday.

Attorney I. H. Russell of 343 N. Maryland avenue returned Thursday from a three months' trip through Mexico. The firm of which Mr. Russell is a member has large mining interests in lower California, and the trip combined the inspection of properties and the supervision and installation of machinery.

In compliment to the Philathea class of girls of the First Methodist church, their class teacher, Mrs. T. A. Wright, entertained at dinner, last evening, in her home at 305 South Louise street. Smilax and violets were massed with artistry upon the banquet board and in other rooms given over to the use of the eighteen young women, all members of Mrs. Wright's class.

A decidedly appreciative audience assembled as guests of the Tuesday Afternoon club in the High School auditorium Friday evening, to hear the lecture given by T. G. Burt of Occidental College. Mr. Burt used as his subject, and one which is of general interest, "The Rhine in Legend and History," proving himself not only an able speaker, but one of pleasing and magnetic personality.

IN SCARLET AND GOLD

One of the happiest occasions on the social calendar for the past week was the perfectly appointed dinner given in the attractive home, at 1321 West 7th street, of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Moore, in celebration of their fifth wedding anniversary on the first instant.

In its entirety the decorations were beautifully carried out in scarlet and gold. The table was a-bloom with a veritable bed of carnations and dainty fern fronds, place favors being bon bon baskets of gold topped with bows of crisp red tulle.

Red and gold hearts held names and marked covers for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. J. Riley Eichar, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kemper, Dr. and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Book, Mr., and Mrs. Irving Baxter, Miss Hope Tibbott, Miss M. Moore and the receiving host and hostess.

COLORADO P. T. A.

The regular meeting of the Colorado Boulevard Parent-Teacher association was held Thursday afternoon at 3:15 p. m. The business meeting first in order was presided over by the president, Mrs. A. M. Beamon, who ably disposed of much important business in a short time. The assembly room was well filled with mothers and interested friends, who had gathered to hear the speaker for the day, Mr. Richardson D. White, supervising principal of Glendale Grammar schools. His subject, "The Present Trend of Education" presented Mr. White's thoughts and ideas gathered from many sources, in an interesting and instructive manner, clearly defined. Mr. White cited why education must be liberal, in part, it is the building up of mind, character and body and it is that which present day educators are aiming to do. "Industrial Education," as a factor, was highly commended. Mr. White reminded his listeners that industrial work was necessary, and to learn to be a good citizen means now, to be a citizen of the world.

A delightful program followed Mr. White's address and at the close of the afternoon refreshments were served by the hospitality committee.

HAND-PAINTED COOKIES

Needless to say, these cookies will prove things of delight to the children of today, being made to represent girls and boys and standing four or five inches tall. Among the decorations are little boys with patched overalls, little Dutch girls with flaring bonnets and wooden shoes, Little Red Riding Hoods, Little Boy Blues with horns, little girls in sunbonnets, and others.

A smaller sized group of cookies are made to represent dogs, cats, rabbits and other pets dear to a child's heart. It is fortunate that a single cooky will give much pleasure, for those of the hand-painted variety are rather costly.

CHINATOWN IN SAN FRANCISCO

"I found a few of the Chinatown shops large and fine, and the goods in them were often expensive, rare and delightfully original and charming in design. But for the most part the shops were small and not by any means prepossessing. Usually they had open fronts, and much of the stock was displayed on the sidewalk, and the walks were also made use of for the conducting of many minor industries, such as cobbling and tinkering. I loitered about for hours watching the strange scenes. . . . The men mostly wore black or dark blue. Often the women wore these colors likewise, but a good many had clothing as gay as a rainbow, and so did the children. The women went about bareheaded and their garments consisted of large, loose-fitting blouses with huge sleeves and a pair of trousers of equally generous proportions.

"The inhabitants included some persons of refinement and learning, and a considerable number of keen and successful business men; but the larger part were of the lower class. . . .

"In various places were walls pasted over with hieroglyphic notices and bulletins, nearly all painted on red or yellow paper and the passers often paused to read. There was always an absorbed group in front of a trinket stand were some Japanese battle pictures were displayed. No space in the buildings was wasted and the occupants were much given to burrowing about underground. . . The shopkeepers seemed very busy, yet sometimes I would see one taking his ease. . . in contemplative peace and satisfaction, or I would see a group standing about a table at the back of their cavernous little place of business eating with their chopsticks. . . .

"Almost every kind of business was represented in Chinatown. They even had a bookstore, and they published a daily newspaper. Barbers' shops were numerous, for every man had his head shaved about once a week; and when you looked into the tonsorial establishment you saw the barber making the job thorough by shaving the inside of the subject's ears. . . .

"The Chinese quarter of San Francisco was rebuilt not long ago, but it is still one of the most interesting parts of the city. There are about 10,000 inhabitants, most of whom are men."

TROPICO

Prof. R. L. Kennedy of the Tropico schools reports that there is an increase in the enrollment of the schools, and that 309 pupils began the second semester; 243 enrolled at Cerritos street school, 42 at Acacia and 24 at Magnolia street. The instructors at the Cerritos school are Prof. R. L. Kennedy, Mrs. Anna Curtis, Miss Mintner, Mrs. Zadia McNeil, Miss Gertrude Lofthouse, Miss Emily Ellias, Miss Amy Bowerfind and Miss Edna Brown. Miss Mae Cromwell and Miss Gladys Hamilton are instructors at the Acacia avenue school, and Miss Emma L. Saxton, Magnolia avenue school. Mrs. R. W. Furman is instructor in domestic science and sloyd. Miss Ruth Mitchell of music.

Impressive memorial exercises, in memory of those comrades of N. P. Banks Post, who have answered "Taps" the past year, will be held in G. A. R. hall tomorrow, Sunday, Feb. 6, at 2:30 o'clock. Hon T. D. Kanouse, past post commander of N. P. Banks, will be one of the speakers. Music will be rendered by a quartette. Not only members of N. P. Banks Post Corps and Sons of Veterans are invited to be present, but citizens of Tropico, Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank.

A large and appreciative number of members of the Tropico Thursday club enjoyed the excellent program as arranged by Mrs. W. C. Mabry, Thursday, at the city hall. Miss Theodora Macomber of Hollywood, district chairman of literature of the Los Angeles district, gave a most interesting and instructive paper on Bible literature, interspersing her talk with vocal numbers, given by noted masters, of the sacred songs of the Hebrews 2000 years before Christ. The musical numbers were given on a Victrola and through each number given there was the most exquisite refrain of sweetness, as well as pathos. The selections were so decidedly different from our present day sacred music that the comparison was truly enjoyable and one regretted that more of this music could not have been given during the afternoon.

Another delightful feature of the program was the two beautiful solos rendered by Mrs. Eustace Benton Moore, whose sweet, clear soprano charmed all. Mrs. Moore was accompanied by Mrs. Percy Degaston.

During the social hour dainty refreshments were dispensed from prettily decorated tables, arranged in French marigolds, at which Mrs. A. J. Becker, Mrs. J. W. Ashton, Mrs. C. H. Phillips and Mrs. Charles Wallace Kimberly presided.

Among the guests who were entertained at the meeting of the Tropico Thursday club, Thursday last, were Mrs. W. W. Macomber of Hollywood, who accompanied her talented daughter, Miss Theodora Macomber, who delighted all with her excellent talk; Mrs. J. W. Barnes of Logansport, Ind., guest of Mrs. O. Earl Clements; Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan and Mrs. G. D. Roach of Glendale.

CHINESE EMBROIDERY STRIPS

The Chinese embroidered silk strips, so beautiful in color and design, are being much used to trim the Russian silk blouses which are worn with velveteen skirts. The blouses are of India silk, in golden brown, deep red or old blue, and the richly colored embroidery forms the collar, cuffs and girdle. The bottoms of the blouses have narrow strips of fur as a finish, and sometimes this is headed with a band of the embroidery. One has to be certain just how much is needed for the trimming, so as to select a pattern that is long enough. The strips are only from a yard to a yard and a quarter long, and it is often hard to collect enough pieces embroidered alike.

ESCAPE AT BEDTIME

The lights from the parlor and kitchen shone out
Through the blinds and the windows and bars;
And high overhead and all moving about,
There were thousands of millions of stars.
There ne'er were such thousands of leaves on a tree,
Nor of people in church or the Park,
As the crowds of the stars that looked down upon me,
And that glittered and winked in the dark.

The Dog, and the Plow, and the Hunter, and all,
And the star of the sailor, and Mars,
These shone in the sky, and the pail by the wall
Would be half full of water and stars.
They saw me at last, and they chased me with cries,
And they soon had me packed into bed;
But the glory kept shining and bright in my eyes,
And the stars going round in my head.

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

People Judge the Wealth of a Town

by its banks. If they are located in modern buildings, well equipped to give first-class service to their depositors and well organized to insure safety, people speak of such a city as a rich and prosperous one.

The First National Bank of Glendale has had a most successful growth and offers its depositors every advantage and convenience of a metropolitan bank, but could be a still greater factor in the upbuilding of Glendale, if every Glendale citizen transacted his or her banking business in Glendale for the reason that the funds of this bank are loaned to Home People on Home Securities and are at all times engaged in the upbuilding of local interests.

BATTLESHIP BUILT IN CALIFORNIA TO BEAR GOLDEN STATE'S NAME

California will be the name of the new battleship, shortly to be plated on the stocks at the Mare Island navy yard. It is said that Secretary Daniels decided to change the name of battleship No. 40, now under construction at the New York navy yard, to that of the Mare Island built superdreadnaught because of the sentiment in favor of naming the California built battleship after the Golden State, No. 40. according to navy department plans, will be named the North Carolina, while the armored cruiser of that name will be designated after a city of that state.

At present the only state name that is not applied to a naval vessel is New Mexico. Armored cruisers bear the names of Colorado, Maryland, Montana, North Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Washington and West Virginia. All other state names are borne by battleships.

The armored cruisers Pennsylvania and California were named respectively, Pittsburg and San Diego, in order that names might be applied to new superdreadnaughts.—Santa Monica Outlook.

FACT ABOUT THE SAHARA DESERT

Many have supposed that most of the surface of the Sahara desert is below sea level, says a writer in the New York Sun. Forty years ago some men proposed digging a canal on the northwest coast of Africa so as to let in the Atlantic ocean over the desert. They believed that this would make an inland sea by which into western Soudan for cargoes. It was later discovered, however, that the greater part of the desert is above sea level.

Another surprising fact is that only about one-fifth of the Sahara is covered with sand. The Sahara, the greatest of all deserts, is about the size of the United States and Alaska together. Its sand area is somewhat larger than Alaska, the remaining part, somewhat smaller than the United States, being rocky tableland. It is explained that the reason most of us think of the Sahara as sand only is because travelers in that district have usually seen only the sand. On three sides the desert is fringed by strips of sand, and strangers have usually seen only the edges.

As the Sahara runs southward, it merges into vast rocky tablelands with dried river beds and mountain ranges. One of these ranges—that of the Ahaggar mountains—covers more territory than the Alps though the range rises no higher than 8000 feet.

Even in the desert there are bits of woodland and pasturage. Among the desert sands, near Biskra, last year, the French had over 800 wells, giving fruitage to 1,500,000 date palms. Along the northern edge of Morocco and Tunis, there is said to be a great chance for immense development of the date industry.

FRANCE IN AMERICA OFF FORTUNE BAY

Many people suppose that France has no longer a colony in North America, says a writer in the Travel Magazine; but they forget that there remain, at the mouth of Fortune bay, south of Newfoundland, the French islands of Saint-Pierre and Miquelon. Separated from the mainland by a channel seven miles broad, these islands still belong to France and are distinctly French in character. Many times during the eighteenth century the islands changed hands, belonging first to England and then to France; but the union jack disappeared from the "government house" in1814, and the French flag still waves. Saint-Pierre has borne its name ever since the days of the explorer, Cartier; it has been a busy seaport, with a population of more than 5000, but now there is little fishing industry left and the inhabitants have dwindled in number.

The men still carry on a little cod-fishing, however. Athough there are no hotels on the islands there are several houses in which the vistor may find comfortable lodging and good French cooking. Practically all the people of the islands are French birth.

So quaint are many of the scenes on the islands that it is easy to fancy one self in a Brittany or an old Normandy town. "Tell me," the article continues, "what town in the Americas wears more wooden shoes, more rakish blue berets?

"Where have you seen more solemn, swinging oxen, with sheepskins drawn over their great carved and tasseled yokes; more carts drawn by dogs, for all the world like Holland's—save that the dogs are black as glossy ink, being of the nearby Newfoundland breed? . . . Truly, all things here are of a picturesquesness; the new world seems very far removed from Saint-Pierre. Has not Saint-Pierre still its old world town crier, sublime in his uniform and heralding his approach with a fanfare upon his glistening bugle? Saint-Pierre is well nigh treeless, but in the town, at least, one hardly minds this lack, for what window does not offer the benediction of richly blooming house plants? For France loves flowers, and in Saint-Pierre one is yet in France."

Dr. Byron H. Wilson will preach on "The Higher Art." All should hear this gospel message.

The leading figure of the story is "Bluey of Mulberry Bend" in the "slums" of New York. Telling how she was led to Christ by the gift of a "pink rose," blessed of God, and how sloughing off her life of debauchery, she was instrumental in saving scores to lives of respectability, honor, refinement and Christian character. WHAT IS A KEAT?

The little village had been billed with a "Lecture on Keats" for over a fortnight. The evening arrived at length, bringing the lecturer ready to discuss the poet. The advertised chairman at the last moment was replaced by another. This worthy introduced the lecturer and terminated his remarks by saying.

"And now, my friends, we shall soon all know what I personally have often wondered—what are Keats?"—The Country Gentleman.

THE THING MOST WORTH WHILE

The thing that goes the farthest
Towards making life worth while,
That's worth the most, that costs the least,
Is just a pleasant smile,
'Tis full of wealth and gladness, too,
With manly kindness bent,
'Tis worth a thousand dollars,
And it doesn't cost a cent.

MAKING A FISH LANTERN

Save paper bags, the nice clean ones, and especially the brown ones, because they are often such a good color to work with.

This lantern takes quite a little patience and skill, because it must be constructed with a light touch. One hand must hold the form while the other models the particular shape required.

First, fold the paper bag as it was before the sugar was put into it. In the center, at the bottom, cut three short rectangles, about a quarter of an inch wide and the same distance apart. The one in the center may be cut an inch deep, the others three quarters of an inch. Next open the bag so that it is more like a box. Place it on the table, on its broadest side.

About two thirds of the way down, begin to bring the two upper edges together toward the center. Just here is where it begins to take skill to keep the main body of the bag open and in shape. Holding this part together with the left hand, now take up the bag and, from the end, try to fit the opposite edges in around the first fold. This takes a good deal of skill and patience. A single pin, placed near the body of the bag, will hold these parts together. With scissors, cut a large H across the broad top of the bag. Open the flaps at both sides and crease along the edge, near the edge of the bag. From the upper corner, at the back, cut each flap in an oblique direction toward the front. This makes two very good fins and leaves a broad opening at the top of the lantern. From a piece of white or cream colored paper cut four circles a little smaller than the others. Paint the smaller circles black. When dry paste them, in the center, over the other circles.

Paste these forms on each side, near the top, and not very far from the front of the bag. Cut a V-shaped piece out of the tail.

Tie four strings, one in each corner of the bag. Bring them together about 12 or more inches above, and tie them carefully so that the lantern will hang evenly.

Find a short candle stub. Melt it on the bottom and fix it securely in the upturned cover of a jelly jar. Glue the cover in the bottom of the bag, exactly in the center, under the opening.

When the lantern is finished tie it to the end of a stick.—Something To Do.

TO COOK A CUSTARD

When custards are needed for the table so soon after the making that they have not time to cool by the natural process, this may be effected by placing the custard mold in a bowl of water in which have been dissolved both a handful of salt and a handful of soda.

JENNY WREN

Miss Wren is O so wee, so wee!
So light, so light! So neat, so neat!
Her waist is trig as waist can be.
She has the funniest little feet,
The prettiest hands, the sauciest nose,
The blackest eyes, the reddest lips!
She comes, she looks, she laughs, she goes,
With petulant little turns and dips,
Her little self she perks and plumes.
She chirps and twitters, chirps and cheeps
As though among wet apple blooms,
With sudden, sidelong, little leaps,
She flits, she flies; Was never seen
A daintier little cutty-queen.
—W. E. Henley.
